

Dr. Abelson has asked us to share following information with you:

You may access the intervention review she discussed via this link (https://link.springer.com/referenceworkentry/10.1007/978-3-030-66959-1\_6-1) or email (sara.abelson@temple.edu) her for a copy if you do not have access via your institution.

The Hope Center for College, Community, and Justice at Temple University is a leading national action research center transforming higher education into a more effective, equitable, and impactful sector. Subscribe to The Hope Center newsletter for updates, resources, and inspiration for advancing student basic needs.

You may learn more about The Hope Center's Hope Impact Partnerships (HIP) program via hope.temple.edu HIP is how colleges and universities can participate in the Hope Center Student Basic Needs Survey as well as collaborate with Hope Center staff and other higher education partners to not only identify students' basic needs, but develop strategies and actions to address them. HIP's three partnership levels range from survey-only to bundled research, training, and coaching options. Information about enrolling in HIP can be found here.