MEET THE SPEAKERS

ALLISON SMITH, PHD

Over the past decade, Allison has dedicated her career to substance misuse prevention and recovery within higher education. She spent eight impactful years at Louisiana State University before transitioning to her current role at the Louisiana Board of Regents, where she leads and advocates for this critical work.

Rich Lucy

Rich Lucey has more than three decades of experience at the state and federal government levels working to prevent alcohol and drug use and misuse among youth and young adults, especially college students. He currently serves as a senior prevention program manager in the Drug Enforcement Administration's Community Outreach and Prevention Support Section. Rich plans and executes educational and public information programs, evaluates program goals and outcomes, and serves as an advisor to the Section Chief and other DEA officials on drug misuse prevention and education programs.
